On April 1, 2013, Nabtesco established the New Energy Business Development Division as a business unit under the direct control of the President & CEO. Through this division, Nabtesco will further enhance its new energy-related businesses, which are expected to achieve remarkable growth in the future.

This new Los Angeles office, represented by Mr. Hiroshi Katada, Senior Vice president of Nabtesco USA, Inc., has been set up to play a key role in the global marketing activities for solar tracking units for concentrated solar thermal power plants (CSP).

CSP are expected to see rapid growth in the renewable energies market, and this new Nabtesco office in Los Angeles will lead marketing activities aimed at the worldwide market through the collection and analysis of information on the renewable energies markets, principally the solar power market. This will help us in providing better feedback to customers and in our efforts to expand Nabtesco's business of supplying solar tracking units.
